

Housing Advisory Group

The Senate today voted to invoke cloture (end debate) on the third and final part of the Housing Foreclosure Act (H.R. 3221) by an 84 - 12 vote. With this vote, the Senate is finally near completion on its version of the legislation. Negotiations continue with the House on the few differences that remain and we will have an update for you early next week on the status of these negotiations. We remain confident that the Congress will pass the legislation by the end of the month and send it to the President for his signature.

More to come.
